Wool innovation is an industry collaboration. We exhibited at ITMA 2019 and the energy was extraordinary. As a wool raw material company, we were able to meet with leading machinery exhibitors on technology innovation. Collaboration, across the supply chain, is key for process and product development, whether it is with spinners, knitters, weavers, printers or processors for more efficient and sustainable ways to process wool and to produce wool products."

Julie Davies, General Manager of Processing Innovation and Education Extension, The Woolmark Company
